BIBLIOGRAPHY

RESILIENT SCHOOL LEADERS

Alvy, Harvey & Robbins, Pam. Learning from Lincoln, Leadership Practices for School Success, pb, 192 pages, ASCD, 2010. ISBN: 978-1-4166-102306.

In a fascinating focus on ten qualities of Abraham Lincoln that would grace any leader, but especially a leader of a public service vocation, Alvy and Robbins bring anchor stories of Lincoln's key moments and decisions that inform and inspire anyone working to lead and improve the quality of life for others in his/her domain. Primary source examples of Lincoln's personal trials and his compassion lead to personal reflections for the reader to consider in their own Leadership Story. This is a powerful review of American history that leads to a personal exploration of one's own leadership style.

GRUENERT, Steve & WHITAKER, Todd. School Culture Rewired: How to Define, Assess, and Transform It, pb, 175 pages, ASCD, 2015. The hardest job for most administrators is to deal with a school culture that is not healthy. In the process, there can be disappointment for leaders in managing the course corrections. But with the directions given leaders in this book, there are many insights to avoid likely pitfalls and to point out a wide range of "leverage points" when changes are most easily made. The book is encouraging and realistic as a guide for the difficult job of rewiring a school's negative culture without causing career and personal pain.

COVEY, Stephen, Merrill, A. Roger & Merrill, Rebecca R. First Things First, Fireside, 1996, pb, 371 pages. The problems of time management are addressed for people who feel they are squeezed when their personal life goals and the rest of their life are out of balance. The key difference lies in analyzing how to balance the clock and the compass. Sometimes it is a wake-up call that makes this a timely book, and sometimes it is just a vague feeling of dissonance, but you will find some interesting self-reflection insights in this book with a look at the eight approaches to time management, and how to tell which is the best to bring your life into balance. Also available as an audio book!

KOUZES, James M. & POSNER, Barry Z. Learning Leadership: The Five Fundamentals of Becoming an Exemplary Leader, Wiley, 2016, pb, 272 pages.

ISBN: 978-1119144281. The authors of this book are renowned, and in their latest work they include self-coaching guidelines to personalize the information in the research, which comes from studies in more than 70 countries. Their focus is on the ongoing learning required of the best leaders, including self-awareness. The leader is encouraged to examine some of the false prescriptions about power in leadership, and to keep focused on the values and actions that help stay centered and effective in stressful times.

SPARKS, Dennis. Leading for Results: Transforming Teaching, Learning, and Relationships in Schools, 2nd ed, pb, 213 pages, Corwin, 2007. This may be the best book of wisdom an administrator can find to address, in a highly readable manner, the key needs of a practicing administrator. It includes chapter topics about the focus on Transformation, through Clarity and Creation, Interpersonal Influence, A Culture that Promotes Professional Learning, Teamwork and Continuous Improvement, and Professional Learning and Doing. There are places for reflection as well as energizing insights throughout the book.

SPARKS, Dennis. Leading Change in Your School: How to Conquer Myths, Build Commitment, and Get Results, pb, 177 pages, ASCD, 2009. Of course, in the process of leading change, there will be plenty of resistances and setbacks, but in this book you will be introduced to some of the dangerous myths that will lead to unsuccessful outcomes, and will be guided through strategies to reorient priorities when needed and to remember the values behind your leadership decisions.
